

Steve McCartney was a tradesman working in the construction and mining industry from when he was 15 till the late 90's. He then worked within the union movement for over 20 years and is currently the Western Australian State Secretary of the Australian Manufacturing Workers' Union. Mr McCartney is an avid supporter of the community and is on a number of boards to help make a difference in the lives of our youth today as well as the President of UnionsWA and the Vice President of the Australian Labor Party.